Introduction

This document provides information that must, by law, be made available to you before any benefit payment is made from your retirement fund.

The aim is to assist you to make good decisions about what to do with your benefits.

To get the most out of this document it will be helpful to read it in conjunction with other information usually found in benefit statements, member booklets, and other relevant communications from the fund or from your Human Resources or Payroll department.

Some words appear in bold – you will be able to refer to these as explained at the end of the document.

Disclaimer: This document is issued only for general information and as a factual guide and explanatory note. It does not provide advice, including on tax matters. It is not intended as a substitute for professional financial advice.

You are encouraged to use the services of a financial planner if you are in any doubt as to what to do.

When choosing a financial planner, you are advised to seek someone who is accredited with the Financial Sector Conduct Authority, and you may take further comfort if they have membership in an industry association such as the Financial Planning Institute of Southern Africa or the Financial Intermediaries Association of Southern Africa.

Alternatively, you can contact your Human Resources or Payroll department, or Robson Savage for details of a financial planner who can assist you.

Options

This document contains information about the payment of your fund benefits. Firstly, however, you need to establish which options are available to you by identifying which category you are in:

Category 1

You are at, or over, your retirement fund's Normal Retirement Age
Options 1, 2, 4 and 5

Category 2

You are age 55 or older but have not yet reached
your retirement fund's Normal Retirement Age
All options

Category 3

If you are under the age of 55 and the fund's trustees have agreed that you may retire on grounds of ill health:
Option 1

Category 4

You are in none of the above categories
All options except Option 1

After identifying which Category, you are in, the available options are explained in more detail below. Whenever a benefit is subject to tax, details of tax rates can be found in the tax tables towards the end of the document.

An easy-to-use benefit tax calculator is available on the Robson Savage website.

Option 1:

Retire from the fund

Available if you are in:
Category 1, 2, or 3

If you elect this option, you must decide:

Firstly, how much if any of your fund value you wish to take in cash; and then whether to use the balance of your fund value to:

- A. Arrange a pension using the fund’s annuity strategy; or
- B. Arrange a pension in another way.

Effective from 1 March 2021 the amount that may be taken in cash is determined as follows:

You were a member of the fund and 55 years or older on 1 March 2021

You were a member of the fund and under 55 years old on 1 March 2021

Option 1: continued

Available if you are in:
Category 1, 2, or 3

Retire from the fund

You joined the fund on or after 1 March 2021

Receiving some of your fund value in cash

You may receive an amount in cash as explained above. You will be paid the net amount after deduction of tax. There is no fee or cost for taking cash.

Any balance of your fund value not paid in cash must be used to arrange a pension – this is explained below.

It is important to realise that being paid any of your fund value in cash reduces the amount of money available to provide a pension in retirement and thus increases the risk of not having enough pension.

Arranging a pension with the balance of your fund value

You may buy a pension using either your retirement fund’s annuity strategy or another product of your choice. This is explained on the following pages.

Using your retirement fund's annuity strategy

This is a joint annuity through the Vrystaat Munispale Aftreefonds.

Your fund will retain the portion of your fund value or minimum actuarial service not taken.

- An administration fee of 1/12th of XX of your remaining investment value will be deducted monthly, inclusive of VAT.
- As this is a choice arranged by your fund, no financial planner is involved, and therefore no commissions or other fees are payable to any intermediary.
- All pension payments will be subject to normal income tax.
- On death, your spouse or eligible children will continue to receive a pension. If there is no spouse or eligible children and death occurred in the first 5 years, then the balance of the 5 years will be paid to your Estate.

Risks & Features

The fund's annuity strategy is not a default option – it will only be implemented if you choose it and indicate this in writing to the fund on the appropriate form.

There may be other financial products that would better meet your needs in retirement, and you are encouraged to seek advice from a financial planner in this regard.

Using another product of your choice

This can be a guaranteed pension, or a living annuity offered by another provider.

Guaranteed pension:

- Your fund will transfer the portion of your fund value not taken in cash to an insurance company of your choice, which will issue you with a pension policy.
- The policy will specify:
  - the amount of pension that will be paid to you each month
  - any other features such as annual increases, the pension payable to your spouse on death, minimum guaranteed pension payment period, and so on in line with choices you make when taking out the policy
- The pension will be paid to you each month as long as you live.
- All pension payments will be subject to normal income tax.

Risks & Features

Your fund value may not be enough for a pension that will meet your income needs – you should obtain quotations before deciding.

---

You might retire at a time when interest rates are low. This will reduce the amount of guaranteed pension that you receive.

---

Many people make use of the services of a financial planner when making their decisions. This can lead to better long-term outcomes however the resulting charges may significantly reduce your pension. Care must therefore be taken to pay fairly for such services, but not to overpay.

There is no risk of 'living too long or suffering financial hardship because of weak investment performance because the insurance company takes these risks for you – as long as you are alive, they are obliged to keep paying your pension.

---

On death, your spouse will receive a pension or other benefits if you have selected this option.

---

A guaranteed pension operates on a pooled insurance basis – if you die soon after retirement there is no return of capital. Insurance works on the basis that some will die younger or older than others, and the capital in the pool, including yours, is used to make sure everyone receives a pension over the whole of their remaining lifetime.

Planning is bringing the future into the present

So that you can do something about it now.

– Alan Lakein

Living annuity:

Your fund will transfer tax-free the portion of your fund value not taken in cash to an insurance company or other financial institution of your choice, which will issue you with a living annuity policy or contract.

You will need to select one or more investment portfolios into which your money will be invested. The details of the available portfolios will be provided to you by the chosen insurance company or financial institution.

Your investment will grow or reduce in line with the performance of your selected investment portfolios over time.

Costs and charges for administration and investments will be deducted as set out in the policy or contract. Make sure you know what these are before making your decision.

At the outset and each year on the anniversary of the commencement of your pension, you must decide:

- what portion of your investment will be paid to you as a pension in the following 12 months, within regulatory limits – at present this is between 2.5% and 17.5% of the remaining value of your investment; and
- how you want your money to be invested for the following year.

The portion selected will be paid to you as a pension, usually monthly but you may select different payment periods if the chosen product allows this.

- All pension payments will be subject to normal income tax.
  - Pension payments will stop if there is no money left.
  - On death, any remaining balance of your investment will be paid to your dependents or nominees.

Risks & Features

There may be other financial products that would better meet your needs in retirement, and you are encouraged to seek advice from a financial planner in this regard.

---

There is a risk that the value of your investment will reduce over time and can even run out altogether.

The factors that could cause this include:

- you draw too much out; and/or
  - the investment performance is poor; and/or
  - you live so long that the money runs out; and/or
  - the aging process makes it difficult for you to make appropriate decisions each year.

If the value of your remaining investment reduces, then you would need to select a higher percentage payment to maintain your pension income. Eventually, you could reach a point where the maximum amount that you can receive reduces too – for example if the most you can receive is 17.5% of a smaller pot of money.

Due to the need to make important decisions each year, you must make sure that you arrange for someone to be available to assist you with these decisions in case you reach a time when you are unable to do this for yourself.

---

Many people make use of the services of a financial planner in making their initial and ongoing decisions. This can lead to better long-term outcomes however the resulting charges may significantly reduce your investment over time. Care must therefore be taken to pay fairly for such services, but not to overpay.

If at a later stage, you decide that a living annuity is no longer suitable for you, you may convert your living annuity to a guaranteed pension.

Option 2:

Available if you are in:
Category 1, 2, 3, or 4

Remain in the fund as a "paid-up" member

If you leave the service of your employer and do not elect to have your fund value paid under any of the other available options, you will automatically remain in the fund as a paid-up member. This is a default process, and no action is required from you.

Once you are a paid-up member you may elect at any time to leave the fund and exercise any of the options available to you as set out in this document based on your circumstances at the time.

Available investment portfolios:

Your fund value will remain invested in the same portfolio or portfolios as before you left service. You will remain eligible to switch your investments in line with any choices that the fund makes available to you.

COSTS

- A monthly administration fee will be deducted from your fund value, equal to 1/12th of XXX of your fund value, inclusive of VAT, subject to a maximum of XXXX per month, inclusive of VAT. The maximum is subject to annual review each 1 January.
- Investment fees will be unchanged, in line with the relevant fund communications, and will be reflected in your fund value. This will be the same as for other members of the fund.
- No fees or commissions will be payable to a financial planner.
- No tax will be deducted from your fund value when you become a paid-up member.

Risks & Features

Leaving your money in the fund is an easy and low-cost option.

You are limited to the investment choices that the board of the fund decides to make available to you.

Once you have terminated service with your employer, no further contributions can be made to the fund on your behalf. You are therefore encouraged to ensure that you continue to save towards your eventual retirement in some other manner and to consult a financial planner for guidance if required.

Option 2: continued

Available if you are in:
Category 1, 2, 3, or 4

Remain in the fund as a “paid-up” member

You will no longer be eligible for any insurance benefits provided by the fund or your employer. You will not, therefore, be charged any insurance premiums, but you are encouraged to make appropriate arrangements in respect of your insurance needs.

You can give an instruction for your money to be paid from the fund whenever you want, subject to tax where applicable.

Taking some cash:

- It is not allowable to take part of your fund value in cash and leave the balance invested in the fund – the whole of your fund value will remain in the fund if you become a paid-up member.

Option 3:

Available if you are in:
Category 2 or 4

Transfer to new employer's fund

If you leave the service of your employer or if you are a paid-up member of a fund, you can elect to transfer your fund value to the retirement fund of your new employer. You should be offered the opportunity to make this choice shortly after starting your new job.

Available investment portfolios:

The investment portfolios will be whatever is available in your new employer's fund – please request details from your new employer.

COSTS

- There is no cost for the transfer.
- You will need to enquire from your new employer for details of administration, investment management, and any other costs in their fund.

Risks & Features

Transferring to your new employer's fund is an easy and low-cost option.

Your right to receive any portion of the amount transferred as a lump sum benefit at retirement will remain in place in the new fund.

In order to avoid unnecessary costs, you should enquire about the costs applicable to your new employer's fund and compare them to those in your current fund.

No tax is payable on the transfer.

Taking some cash:

- You can elect to receive a portion of your fund value in cash and transfer the balance to your new employer's fund. The part that you take in cash will be subject to tax.
- It is important to realise that taking any of your fund value in cash reduces the amount of money available to provide a pension in retirement and thus increases the risk of not having enough pension.

Option 4:

Available if you are in:
Category 1, 2, 3, or 4

Transfer to a preservation fund

If you leave the service of your employer or if you are a paid-up member of a fund, you can elect to transfer your fund value to the preservation fund of your choice. You may for example wish to consolidate your retirement savings into a preservation fund of which you are already a member.

Available investment portfolios:

The investment portfolios will be what is available in the preservation fund of your choice – please request details from the preservation fund.

COSTS

- There is no cost for the transfer.
- You will need to enquire from the preservation fund of your choice for details of administration, investment management, and any other costs in the fund.

Risks & Features

Your right to receive any portion of the amount transferred as a lump sum benefit at retirement will remain in place in the new fund.

No tax is payable on the transfer.

If you are in Category 2, 3 or 4 you may at a future date elect to make one partial withdrawal before retirement. Such a withdrawal will be subject to tax.

If you are in Category 1, you may not elect to make one partial withdrawal.

In order to avoid unnecessary costs, you should enquire about the costs applicable in the preservation fund of your choice and compare to those in your current fund.

Taking some cash:

- If you are in Category 2, 3, or 4 you may elect to receive a portion of your fund value in cash and transfer the balance to the preservation fund of your choice. The part that you take in cash will be subject to tax.
- It is important to realise that taking any of your fund value in cash reduces the amount of money available to provide a pension in retirement and thus increases the risk of not having enough pension.
- If you are in Category 1, you may not elect to take part of your fund value in cash – if you take this option then the whole of your fund value must be transferred to the preservation fund of your choice.

Option 5:

Available if you are in:
Category 1, 2, 3, or 4

Transfer to a retirement annuity fund

If you leave the service of your employer or if you are a paid-up member of a fund, you can elect to transfer your fund value to a retirement annuity fund of your choice.

Available investment portfolios:

- The investment portfolios will be whatever is available in the retirement annuity fund of your choice – Please request details from the retirement annuity fund.

COSTS

- There is no cost for the transfer.
- You will need to enquire from the retirement annuity fund of your choice for details of administration, investment management, and any other costs in the fund.
- No tax is payable on transfer to a retirement annuity fund.
- Many people make use of the services of a financial planner in making their decisions. This can lead to better long-term outcomes however the resulting charges may significantly reduce your investment over time. Care must therefore be taken to pay fairly for such services, but not to overpay.

Risks & Features

Benefits that have been transferred to a retirement annuity fund can only be thereafter accessed for the purpose of retirement – unlike a preservation fund, there is no option to elect a pre-retirement withdrawal benefit. It is important to understand this before deciding to transfer.

Your right to receive any portion of the amount transferred as a lump sum benefit at retirement will remain in place in the retirement annuity fund.

In order to avoid unnecessary costs, you should enquire about the costs applicable in the retirement annuity fund of your choice and compare it to those in your current fund.

After you have transferred your fund value into the retirement annuity fund, you may make further contributions if you wish, subject to the fund's terms and conditions.

You will retire from the retirement annuity fund when you decide to do so.

Option 5: continued

Available if you are in:
Category 1, 2, 3, or 4

Transfer to a retirement annuity fund

Taking some cash:

- If you are in Category 2, 3, or 4 you may elect to receive a portion of your fund value in cash and transfer the balance to the retirement annuity fund of your choice. The part that you take in cash will be subject to tax.
- It is important to realise that taking any of your fund value in cash reduces the amount of money available to provide a pension in retirement and thus increases the risk of not having enough pension.
- If you are in Category 1, you may not elect to take part of your fund value in cash – the whole of your fund value must be transferred to the retirement annuity fund of your choice.

Option 6:

Available if you are in:
Category 2, 3 or 4

Take your full benefit in cash

COSTS

- There is no cost for taking cash.

This is not encouraged because it will reduce the amount of money available to you when you retire

Explanation of words

Annuity strategy

A choice of pension that your retirement fund makes available to you when you retire from the fund.

Financial planner

A professional who is qualified to give advice on what to do when you receive a benefit from your retirement fund.

Fund

For the purposes of this document, "Fund" has the same meaning as "Retirement fund".

Fund value

The value of your investment benefit – you can think of this as your pot of savings in the fund.

Guaranteed pension

A pension that is paid by an insurance company for the whole of your life.

Living annuity

A pension that is paid by a fund, insurance company, or other financial service provider, until your money runs out or you die.

Normal retirement age

The retirement age is specified as such in your retirement fund's rules.

Paid-up member

A member who has left the service of an employer but has not yet elected to have their fund value paid or transferred. In this document, we use this term whether the member left service before or after retirement age.

Pension

A pension is an income that you receive after you retire from the fund, paid for with the balance of your fund value not taken in cash. The two available types of pension are a Guaranteed pension and a Living annuity. The words "pension" and "annuity" mean the same thing and are often interchanged.

Pension fund

A type of retirement fund historically designed to provide pension benefits at retirement.

Pension preservation fund

A type of retirement fund to which you can transfer your benefits from other funds, and which was historically designed to provide pension benefits at retirement.

Preservation fund

A pension preservation fund or provident preservation fund.

Provident fund

A type of retirement fund historically designed to provide cash lump sum benefits at retirement.

Provident preservation fund

A type of retirement fund to which you can transfer your benefits from other funds, and which was historically designed to provide cash lump sum benefits at retirement.

Retirement annuity fund

A retirement fund to which you can make regular contributions and transfer your benefits from other funds. You cannot receive withdrawal benefits before retirement. Historically designed to provide pension benefits at retirement.

Retirement benefit

A benefit that is payable by a retirement fund when you retire from the fund.

Retirement fund

A registered and tax-approved pension fund, provident fund, pension preservation fund, provident preservation fund, or retirement annuity fund. When you retire you can take in cash any amount accumulated in or transferred from a provident fund or provident preservation fund that is available as a cash lump sum, plus up to one-third of the balance of your fund value. The amount of your fund value not taken in cash must be used to arrange a pension.

Retire from the fund

The process of electing to retire and receive your fund value from a retirement fund.

Tax

Retirement fund benefits are taxed in line with the tax tables included elsewhere in this document.

Vested benefit

The portion of your benefit on retirement may be taken in cash.

Withdrawal benefit

A benefit that a member may elect to have paid by a retirement fund at any time after he or she leaves the service of their...
